For those who have never taken the plunge to try the game, now is the time in a perfect learner's environment with privacy and learner friendly courses. For the experienced golfer take the ultimate challenge and measure your game on courses the pros play on.

How it works

Only recently has golf simulation technology improved to the point where amazingly realistic golf can be experienced indoors. The Cyber Bunker uses technology that is new in Australia, and being used worldwide to offer an exciting new option in group or individual entertainment - day or night. When you play in The Cyber Bunker you play all the shots from driving, pitching and putting in a simulation booth equipped with a floor to ceiling screen that displays extremely realistic computer images of the chosen course. There are no gimmicks, players hit the golf ball with a real golf club and by the time your ball hits the screen, the computer and dual tracking infra-red system has determined speed, direction, trajectory and spin of the ball and an image of the ball instantaneously continues on its way.

The Realism

No detail has been overlooked in recreating the look and feel of outdoor play - every element of the golf course is depicted on the screen, from waving flags to water reflections. Each shot is incredibly realistic - balls spin on the green and even hit the flagstick. Be ready for all the usual hazards and rules of golf too - your ball hits trees and lands in bunkers just as it would outdoors - you just won't lose any balls.

Interactive sound effects and environmental elements such as wind and green speed, both adjustable, ensure you get the total golfing experience. In addition there are enhancements included that are not available to the outdoor golfer such as Top View, Side View, Reverse Replay and Automatic Scoring. The system is based around a dual tracking infra-red system which measures the ball 60,000 times as it flies to the screen. Accuracy and realism is the major attribute of the system, precision measurement is achieved with either the 200 metre drive or the 2 metre putt and every shot in between.

Who can play

Each booth at the Bunker allows up to 8 players to play at once, so currently The Cyber Bunker caters for up to 30 players simultaneously. You can bring your own clubs, or use the clubs we have available for hire. There is no age limit, in fact indoor golf is suitable for the youngest or oldest players as long as you can swing a club.

Anyone can play in The Bunkers, even if you have never held a golf club before, we can get you started with free and friendly assistance. When you are ready, play your game in the privacy of your own booth. Team up with others or play individually, you will be amazed how easy it is to start swinging.
